

THIRD ARMY RACE SPLITS DYING REICH

YANKS INVADE
NEW AREA IN
PHILIPPINESMORE GAINS MADE ON STRATEGIC OKINAWA

BY RAY CRONIN

A new American invasion in the Philippines and fresh advances for Yank soldiers and Marines of the 10th Army on strategic Okinawa were officially reported by army and navy Pacific commanders late Wednesday.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced invasion of Masbate Island, in the central Philippines against little resistance, while Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz disclosed that Marines and doughboys on Okinawa were meeting only scattered opposition as they pushed their lines forward in all sectors.

Elements of the 40th Division landed on Masbate, astride the main water shipping lane through the Philippines. Aided by guerrillas, they were rapidly securing the entire island.

On Okinawa the Yanks, pushing toward what may mean a real scrap in the south, have met little fight in taking 30 square miles or one-sixth of the island which lies only 325 miles southwest of the Japanese homeland.

Japs Cut Off
The 10th Army was in control of a large slice of the coastlines of two eastern Okinawa bays—Kimmu and Nakagusuku. The eastern coast from Yaka, on the north, to Kuba, on the south, was in Yank hands.

To the northeast of Okinawa American carrier planes struck heavily against the Japanese air force and shipping in the Amami Islands, also in the Ryukyus.

Radio Tokyo acknowledged that the Yank 10th Army has cut Okinawa in two by driving from the west to the east coast. It made the unconfirmed claim that 11 additional American ships—a battleship, four cruisers and six transports—were sunk off Okinawa.

Stressing the importance of the American advance to the southern end of the Sulu Archipelago, reported Tuesday, MacArthur said this strike to within 30 miles of Borneo "secured the last line in the chain of blockading airfields that reach thousands of miles from the Philippines to New Guinea. Thus, he said, the Japanese are cut off from their conquered holdings in the south and the rich Dutch East Indies are isolated for exploitation.

Sniffly Summer In Store For Sneezers

Ann Arbor, Mich., April 4 (AP)—Hay fever victims will probably have to pay for the balmy month of March by suffering through an extended pollen season, according to Dr. Buenaventura Jimenez, University of Michigan allergist.

Dr. Jimenez forecasts an "abundant growth of grasses and weeds this year, and the worst pollen season in many years" because of the warm weather, tree pollen has already begun to affect hay fever victims and ragweed pollen will probably start in late July, three weeks earlier than usual and continue until the first killing frost, he said.

ALLIES TO SEA: REDS AT VIENNA—British, American and Canadian troops have driven to within 60 miles of the North Sea in a supreme effort to trap the German Armies in Holland. To the south, Monty's columns are reported 60 miles away from Bremen and Hannover, and the British radio announces the fall of Kassel to Patton's troops. On the Eastern front Red Army troops are in the outskirts of Vienna and are reported to have taken Bratislava, capital of the puppet Slovakian state. (NEA Telephoto.)

Escanaba Would Receive
$29,660 Intangibles Tax

Lansing, April 4 (AP)—Representatives of city officials seeking a greater share of state tax funds, announced today to support Governor Kelly's announced endorsement of a strengthened intangible tax and a 10 per cent liquor tax as the immediate means of achieving their ends.

Kelly announced that decision after a two-hour meeting with the executive committee of the Conference of Municipal Officials.

The announcement came soon after the senate taxation committee released to the floor the controversial intangible tax bill designed to boost revenues from that source from $3,500,000 to $10,000,000, all earmarked for local government.

Its path in the legislature is conceded to be rocky and many informed senators predict it cannot be passed.

Mayor Ralph W. Crego of Lansing, chairman of the mayors' organization, said the organization had promised Kelly it would "encourage our representatives" in the legislature to pass the intangible tax change, and William E. Dowling, Detroit corporation counsel, added, "as reported out."

The bill in that form imposes a levy of $1 on each $1,000 of bank deposits, a rate of $2 on non-productive investments, a rate of five per cent on the income from productive intangibles, eliminates a $3,000 exemption previously allowed on bank deposits but retains a $10 tax exemption granted to every taxpayer, and would tax the stock of Michigan corporations as well as foreign corporations. It does not eliminate an offset on accounts payable.

Senator George N. Higgins, Ferndale Republican and sponsor of the intangible tax bill, gave these typical examples of how the revenue of local communities would be increased: (The first figure is the amount now received and the second that if the distribution were $2 per capita under the proposed bill.)

Escanaba, $6,673, $29,660; Grand Rapids, $73,931, $338,584; Houghton county, all units, $21,433, $95,262; Muskegon, $21,463, $95,394; Negaunee, $3,065, $13,626; Sault Ste. Marie, $7,171, $31,694.

BRANCH BANKING
BAN IS PASSEDHouse Gives Bill Needed
Majority, Sends It
To Governor

Lansing, April 4 (AP)—The house of representatives today passed by a vote of 67 to 25 the Bishop anti-branch banking bill, already approved by the senate, and sent it to the governor.

The bill received exactly the two-thirds majority necessary to pass a banking measure, after nine attempts to amend it were defeated.

The measure is identical to a bill passed by the house but defeated by the senate in 1943, and similar to a 1941 bill vetoed by former Governor Murray D. Van Wageningen. The rumors of large sums of money allegedly spent to defeat the 1943 version of the measure are reported to have started the grand jury investigating state government.

The bill as passed by the house permits banks to establish branches only in the same county as the parent bank, in other counties within 25 miles of the original bank, or in neighboring counties at a point more than 25 miles from the main office, if such counties have no bank.

Half Of V-1 Bombs
Proved Ineffective

With the Canadian Army in Holland, April 4 (AP)—Dutch citizens told Canadian troops who captured a V-bomb base at Huize Zelleu in northeast Holland today that the Germans had boasted that these terroristic weapons would be launched on America soon from Japan and Holland.

But, the citizens added, in actual performance, 50 per cent of the V-1 bombs aimed at London and Allied bases on the continent fell to the ground within a few miles of their launching sites, apparently as a result of mechanical defects. These, they said, rarely exploded, but bombs falling farther away exploded, damaging villages and killing many people.

MINE WORKERS
ASK PAY RAISE25 Per Cent In Salary
And 10c Royalty
Demanded

New York, April 4 (AP)—The United Mine Workers today asked a 25 per cent salary increase for 72,000 workers in the hard coal field.

The miners also demanded a royalty of 10 cents per ton, as they did in the bituminous negotiations, and asked severance pay for suspensions, dismissals and layoffs.

A set of 30 demands was presented by President John L. Lewis to the representative of 190 hard coal producers in eastern Pennsylvania as negotiations opened for a new contract to replace the one expiring April 30. Lewis said before the negotiations began that miners had received "only a 15 per cent increase since 1923" and that they now deserved "a considerable increase" because "we know industry is prosperous."

Call Veteran Ore
Carriers To Duty

Washington, April 4 (AP)—Ten over-age Great Lakes steamers are coming out of retirement again to move ore, coal and grain, the war shipping administration announced today.

The ODT asked that the 10 vessels be operated this season, and said it might ask for the services of the other 26 over-age ships available for Great Lakes operation.

The over-age vessels have been traded in for newer ones, and eventually will wind up on the scrap heap.

The steamers S. B. Coolidge and the Amazon will be operated by the Gartland Steamship Company; the Saucan, Johnstown and Cornwall, by the Bethlehem Steel Company; the Negaunee, Colonel, Munising, Yosemite and Chagornak, by the Cleveland-Cliffs Steamship Company.

Veteran's Eye Does
Double Duty In War

St. Joseph, La., April 4 (AP)—John W. Amos' eye is doing duty in its second World War, but the eye is overseas and Amos is here.

He received a letter today from Erank Chabina of Hammond, La., a young man to whom he gave the uninjured retina of a blinded eye several years ago when the two became acquainted in a New Orleans hospital.

The latter said: "Now, Pop, you can tell the people that your eye—I mean 'our' eye—is back in the fight again. It's remarkable, isn't it? You were in the last World War with your eye, and now I have that same eye in this war, and if luck stays with me I'm coming back with it. I hope I can visit you soon after my return to the good old U. S. A."

NAZI END NEAR

Paris, April 4 (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower declared tonight "the end is not far off" in a statement broadcast to urban residents of western Germany warning them to flee at once from factories, mines and rail centers and hide until the Allies arrived.

REDS BATTLE
INTO VIENNA;
HUNGARY FREEBRATISLAVA, SLOVAK
STATE CAPITAL, IS CAPTURED

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

London, Thursday, April 5 (AP)—The Russians captured Bratislava, cleared the last Germans out of Hungary and fought into Vienna's southern suburbs yesterday in a day of sensational successes all along the southeastern front.

The combined blows of the Second Third and Fourth Ukrainian army groups also hurled the Nazis back in northwest Yugoslavia in the Mura river valley and overcame the enemy foothold in the little Carpathian mountains north of Bratislava, presaging the early clearance of all Slovakia.

Premier Stalin announced the storming of Bratislava, capital of the Nazi puppet state of Slovakia and a key Danubian stronghold of 160,000 population, less than 24 hours after Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian group had laid siege to the city.

Patriot Forces Help
The subsequent Moscow broadcast communique announced that Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian forces seized more than 30 communities south and southwest of Vienna, one of them—Zwoelfzang—only a mile and a half from the southern city limit, and seven and a half from the very center of the Austrian capital.

Almost due south of Vienna the Russians announced they had hurled the last of the Germans off Hungarian territory and were pressing their liberating invasion of Yugoslavia.

This drive, which took ten Yugoslav towns during the day, was aided by Czechoslovak troops.

Similarly, Czechoslovak army forces aided in the southwestward thrust of the Fourth Ukrainian army in northwest Slovakia, which captured more than 60 populated places.

Stage All Set
This resumed offensive by Col. Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukrainian was apparently the long-exppected push to team up with Malinovsky's northern units and put the squeeze on the German-held remainder of Slovakia.

Another more significant link-up was indicated in Malinovsky's capture of Bratislava. This laid open the traditional invasion gate to Austria and promised union with the Tolbukhin forces that already were in Vienna's southern suburbs.

The stage was set for another Malinovsky-Tolbukhin joint operation, similar to that which captured Budapest.

Nazi "Butcher" Is Captured In Poznan

London, April 4 (AP)—Gaulleter Arthur Greiser, whose grim rule in Poland earned for him such names "The Bloody Butcher of Poland" and "Hangman of the Polish People," has been captured in Poznan by the Red army, it was reported today by the Soviet War News, a publication of the Russian embassy here.

Greiser was one of the first Nazi leaders whose European activities brought on the war. President of the senate of the Free City of Danzig, Greiser organized the campaign for Danzig's nazification. He helped terrorize the city and told the people Hitler was determined to annex it.

When the war started Greiser was appointed Polish gaulleter. Boasting "there will be no Pole in my district in five years," he proceeded to carry out the threat by mass murder, deportation and other means.

Bearing Plant Is Closed By Strike

Detroit, April 4 (AP)—A strike of 400 repair, toolroom and maintenance workers closed the main plant of the Timken-Detroit Axle Co. today forcing 5,000 employees into idleness.

The strike, which began yesterday, followed disciplinary action against a union steward of Local 174, United Automobile Workers (CIO) accused by the management of having checked in on a morning shift and immediately moved out with the outgoing shift. He was given a one-week lay-off following a meeting between company and union officials.

Encore Of Winter
Brings Snowdrifts,
Winds And Floods

(By The Associated Press)

Heavy snow, bitter cold, high winds and flood waters harassed the mid-continent yesterday (Wednesday).

Wintry intrusions on the spring season, well advanced by abnormally warm March weather, threatened fruit crops, blocked highways, closed rural schools and disrupted travel.

Snowfall ranged up to 17 inches in Minnesota, the worst April storm since 1928. Northern and western Iowa had as much as 16 inches. There was a 14 inch cover in Nebraska. Northwestern Wisconsin and parts of Upper Michigan had at least 8 inches. A Rocky Mountain storm fell up to 14 inches in Colorado and Wyoming, accompanied by 17 below zero weather in Laramie, Wyo., and 14 below at Leadville, Colo.

High winds, which reached a peak of 51 miles-an-hour at Sault Ste. Marie, buffeted Michigan today, endangering Great pulp utility lines.

Lakes shipping and damaging

Coast guard stations were placed on the alert as the winds reached gale force along the lake shorelines, but no calls for assistance were received during the day. At Sault Ste. Marie, an estimated 20 vessels dropped anchor to ride out the storm.

Frankfort reported a 50-mile wind, described as the worst since the Armistice Day storm four years ago. Two planes, stored in a hangar at Frankfort City airport, were demolished as the wind ripped the roof off the hangar and carried the planes 40 feet from the building.

At Munising, a searching party composed of soldiers, coast guardsmen, state and local police trudged through a four-inch snowfall to find three boys, who had been lost in a forest for 24 hours.

The trio—Thomas Moore, Charles Jensen and Edward Johns, all of Wetmore—told rescuers they became lost while at play. State police said the boys were suffering from exposure but were not in serious condition.

At Marquette, five inches of snow fell Tuesday night and this morning, but a heavy rainstorm turned the roadways into slush and ice covered masses late this afternoon.

Storm warnings were posted for all Great Lakes, except Lake Ontario, and the Detroit weather bureau said Lake Erie was swept by a 45 to 48 mile wind at 7:30 p. m. (EWT) tonight.

The weatherman said Sault Ste. Marie's 51 mile wind was the highest hourly reading reported for the day, and added that the weather station there reported occasional wind gusts reaching 74 miles an hour were recorded there.

SUGAR PICTURE
TURNING SOURU. S. Civilians To Have
Sweet Tooth Pangs
During 1945

BY J. B. DAVIS

Washington, April 4 (AP)—Civilians in the United States, famous for their sweet tooth, will find 1945 "the most difficult of the war" from the sugar standpoint.

This sour report came today from Lt. Col. R. W. Olmstead of the War Food Administration, who said the comparative supply figures are: 7 per cent less than in 1944 and 14 per cent less than the 1935-39 average.

The American estimate figures out at 83 pounds per civilian, even a little less than civilians in Great Britain are due to get.

Olmstead supplied the figures in testimony before senators investigating food shortages.

Other highlights on the continuing big food topic:

(1) The War Food Administration allotted 323,000,000 pounds of butter for civilian consumption in the next three months. This compares with estimated consumption of 325,000,000 to 328,000,000 in the last three months.

(2) It said civilians face a 30 per cent reduction in rice supplies because of urgent military and foreign relief needs. This would mean about 4.3 pounds per person in 1945 as compared with about 6 pounds last year.

(3) Olmstead figures the deficit of the world meat supply is about 6,200,000,000 pounds, or 15 per cent of estimated needs. He said world meat supply and demand may "strike a balance" one year after V-E day.

(4) Some American food officials are urging a heavy fall pig crop—which would mean less pork now and more next year through using sows this year for breeding rather than slaughter.

(5) The senate passed and sent to the White House legislation continuing the Commodity Credit Corporation a year past June 30. This continues the CCC's food subsidy operations under WFA and increases its borrowing power from $3,000,000,000 to $4,750,000,000.

BILL BECOMES LAW

Lansing, April 4 (AP)—Legislative bills signed into law today by Governor Kelly extend to March 15, 1947, a 1943 law which relaxes the butter-fat standard in ice cream during war time, and declared that a person otherwise eligible shall not be refused old age assistance because he is supported in a private institution by relatives not legally responsible for his support.

TANK FORCE
IS 130 MILES
FROM BERLINNAZIS OVERRUN IN SWELLING TIDE
OF BATTLE

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

Paris, Thursday, April 5 (AP)—U. S. Third army tank forces, breaking into the open Thuringian plain, captured Kassel, Gotha and Suhl yesterday and closed in on Erfurt, 130 miles southwest of Berlin, in their swift race to split the dying Reich.

In the north, British armored forces hurled two major river barriers, the lower Weser and Ems rivers, and plunged on toward the great German North Sea ports of Bremen and Emden.

One force pushing into Lingen, 55 miles south of Emden, and sweeping onward, was only 45 miles from cutting the last Nazi escape route out of all Holland, and Canadian troops on the western flank were overrunning V-bomb sites.

Karlsruhe, capital of Baden on the upper Rhine, fell to the French First army at the extreme southern end of the front, a French communique announced, adjoining U. S. Seventh army pushed to Uffenheim, 34 miles northwest of Nuernberg. Nazi convention city and key road city controlling the Berlin-Brenner Pass routes into Italy. The Americans and French also were threatening Stuttgart, big south German city.

Third Army Spearhead

All Allied armies were pounding ahead in a swelling tide that overran underground Nazi factories, vital airfields, and other war plants. The Nazis were losing more than two divisions daily in prisoners alone.

Field Marshal Montgomery's British 11th armored division swept around Osnabrueck, where the last bitter German resistors were being slain, and crossed the Weser river, one of the last two water barriers before Berlin, in an apparent double strike aimed at Hannover and Bremen.

Although the exact point of the crossing was not divulged in a late front dispatch, it apparently occurred above Minden, which is 53 miles south of Bremen and 32 miles west of Hannover.

The British "plunged beyond against light opposition," said a dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent William Frye.

The American Third army, pacing the Allied drive in the center, ran through surrendered Gotha and moved on toward Erfurt, 11 miles beyond, astride the Frankfurt-Dresden military superhighway. The Germans said 40 Allied gliders set down troops, fuel, and munitions to aid the capture of ancient Gotha.

Show White Flags

The American Ninth army charged up to the 246-foot Weser river, next to last barrier on the high road to Berlin, 170 miles away.

The naval base of Bremen lay 57 miles to the north.

The Ninth pressed down from the north on the shrinking Ruhr trap where up to 150,000 Germans faced surrender or annihilation. Field Marshal Albert Kesselring, supreme Nazi commander in the west, was in the doomed pocket, a dispatch from the Ninth army front said. Advancing infantry moved within five miles of Dore-

WETMORE BOYS
LOST IN WOODSThree Youngsters Found Yesterday After Long Search

Three Wetmore boys, all seven years old, spent a night in the woods east of Wetmore when they became lost Tuesday afternoon after school and were not found until Wednesday noon.

The boys, Tom Moore, Edward Johns and Charles Jensen, had started out in the woods after school with hatchets and their dogs, intending to play in the woods back of Moore's home. About 3 o'clock in the afternoon it turned cold and started to snow. After playing in the woods until it began to snow the youths started for home and became lost.

When they failed to come home for their supper, the parents and neighbors organized a searching party. When no trace of the boys was found by 10 o'clock Tuesday night the Alger county sheriff's department was notified and a large searching party composed of Coast Guards, soldiers, high school youths and mill workers was organized. At 9 o'clock Wednesday morning no trace was found of the boys and additional men were added to the searching party.

About noon Wednesday an unidentified soldier, who was a member of the searching party, was in the area east of the Connors road near Ted Lehman's farm. He walked near a windfall and some underbrush and hearing a rustling of the brush he investigated and found the three boys huddled there trying to keep warm. The boys were so weak from exposure in the heavy snow and rain, and from hunger that they were unable to speak and had to be carried out of the woods.

Russian Speaker Is Scheduled April 10

Miss Irina Khrabroff, a native of Russia, will lecture on "The Russian People in Their Past and Present" at 11:30 a. m. at the St. Nicholas church, April 10, at 3 p. m. It is the last of a series of special programs offered at the school this year. There is a small admission charge.

Miss Khrabroff was born in Warsaw but brought up in St. Petersburg where her father, a Russian general, was stationed. Her early formal education was interrupted by World War I, and she was one of the youngest girls in the nursing service of the Russian Red Cross.

After fluctuating fortunes her parents came to the United States. Miss Khrabroff studied English and was graduated from Teachers' College, Columbia. Later she became an American citizen. She has returned to Russia several times.

Forms Received

For Coal Dealers

Henry E. Jacobson, chairman of the Alger County War Price and Rationing Board announced yesterday that consumer declarations of the Solid Fuel Administration for War, can be obtained by dealers at local War Price and Rationing Board offices.

Mr. Jacobson emphasized that this is in accordance with the recent order of the Solid Fuels Administration, requiring every consumer to file with his dealer a consumer declaration in order to obtain solid fuel for the 1945-46 heating season. He further emphasized that consumers cannot obtain these forms at dealers. They are available only to dealers.

"Our board," Mr. Jacobson added, "is simply the place where the dealer can pick up as many forms as he needs for distribution to customers. OPA has no further authority or responsibility. We will not be in a position to answer detailed or technical questions regarding the regulation."

Officers Schultz

And Cook Resign

Two of the city's patrolmen, Lloyd Cook, who has been on the force for the past four years, and Ernest Schultz, a member of the force off and on the past five years, resigned their posts Tuesday.

Joseph Lambert has been hired as a temporary night patrolman and it is expected that the new incoming mayor, Lowell Gibson, will make appointments to the police force in the near future.

Q. Please describe the Combat Infantryman Badge.

A. The badge consists of a sterling silver musket center on an Infantry blue rectangle three inches long and seven-sixteenths of an inch wide, surmounted by the sterling silver laurel wreath which distinguishes it from the Expert Infantryman Badge, which is awarded to servicemen who attain during their training period certain standards of proficiency established by the War Department.

Q. What is the penalty provided by the Articles of War for desertion in time of war?

A. The Articles of War provide that any person subject to military law who deserts or attempts to desert the service of the United States is liable, if the offense be committed in time of war, suffer death or such other punishment as a court-martial may direct, and, if the offense be committed at any other time, any punishment, excepting death, that a court-martial may direct.

Q. What percentage of Poland's population have suffered war casualties?

A. The Polish Press Bureau states that Poland has suffered an estimated 10,000,000 military and civilian casualties since the war began September 1, 1939 or more than 28 per cent of her pre-war population of 35,000,000. Military casualties were estimated at 1,045,000 and civilian casualties, 9,000,000.

Q. What is the difference between the equatorial circumference of the earth and the meridional circumference?

A. The equatorial circumference is 24,902 miles; the meridional circumference 24,860 miles.

Q. How much does one gallon of water weigh?

A. It weighs 8.355 pounds.

Q. A friend is being married in May. It will be an evening affair and I had thought of wearing a white chiffon evening dress. Now some one tells me that only the bride is supposed to wear white and that the guests refrain from doing so out of respect to her. Is that correct?

A. It is not usually considered courteous to wear white, for the reason that it might detract from the bride costume, which should make the bride the center of attraction. You should add some color in the way of flowers or jewelry that would completely change the effect of the unrelieved white, if you do not wish to select another dress for the occasion.

KRUG TO HOLD
PARLEY TODAYReconversion Of Motor
Industry Will Be
DiscussedBY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive
Editor

Detroit, April 4 (AP)—The problems involved in starting the nation's automobile industry back toward civilian passenger car production after the end of hostilities in Europe will be discussed here tomorrow at conferences between J. A. Krug, war production board chairman and the car manufacturers.

Krug also has arranged meetings with representatives of labor in the automobile factories.

Tomorrow's meetings are not expected to bring announcement of a date when passenger car production may be resumed. The WPB chairman, however, may announce appointment of one of his associates to supervise the transition of the industry back to peacetime activities.

The industry has made no civilian passenger cars since February, 1942, and the stock of cars then on hand was dwindled to slightly more than 50,000 units.

Some of the car industry's executives have suggested that a program of "combined operations"—the production of all needed war material and as many passenger automobiles as possible—should get under way at the earliest moment.

Krug has made it clear that while the WPB policy is to relax and revoke material and production controls as rapidly as possible after V-E day, its primary goal "must be the prompt filling of all military needs and the maintenance of a sound-war-supporting economy for speedy conclusion of the Japanese war."

Stettinius Favors
Trade Conference
Of World Nations

Chicago, April 4 (AP)—Secretary of State Stettinius said tonight "we shall do all in our power" to convene a conference of the world's principal trading nations within the next year to consider commerce problems.

Stettinius emphasized government plans for the "removal of the political, economic and social causes of war" in a speech before the council on foreign relations.

The proposed trade conference, he said, "would also prepare the way for establishment of a permanent trade organization within the framework of the world organization, to deal with these problems on a continuing basis."

The secretary expressed "full confidence that we shall be able to resolve" the "temporary difficulties of a political nature that have arisen in connection with the San Francisco conference" on world organization opening on April 25.

Saying he was unable to discuss the subject in detail "because the United States government is at this moment engaged in very active efforts to resolve these difficulties," he added:

"We are going right ahead with our plans for the San Francisco conference and we are resolved to make it the success that it must be. I ask you to remember: first, that the United Nations have repeatedly overcome other difficulties far more serious in the past three years; second, that the vital national interests of the United States and of each of our Allies are bound up in maintaining and cementing in the peace our wartime partnership; third, that the extent of our agreement is far wider and more fundamental than the extent of our differences."

Stettinius concluded with a plea to his countrymen to place the cause of a lasting peace above current problems.

"Believing in America as I do, I am confident that we will meet this greatest crisis in our modern history as we have met all the crises of our history before."

Research Engineer

Appointed By Ford

Detroit, April 4 (AP)—Appointment of William S. James, past president of the Society of Automotive Engineers as director of automotive research for the Ford Motor company, was announced today by Henry Ford II, executive vice-president.

James, who has been with the Studebaker corporation since 1926 has been chief engineer there since 1936.

James, born in Asbury Park, N. J., September 3, 1892, graduated with honors and a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering from George Washington university in 1917. He received the university's alumni award for scientific achievement in 1944.

Official Vote Is
Tallied By County
Canvassing Board

The Delta county board of canvassers yesterday completed their official tally of votes cast in Monday's spring election, which showed that Delta county gave all Republican candidates majority and rejected both proposed amendments to the state constitution.

The official figures on state offices are as follows:
Regents of the University—Eckert (R) 1529; Welch (D) 1347; Kennedy (R) 1563; Orr (D) 1328.
State superintendent of public instruction—Elliott (R) 1596; Sherwood (D) 1308.
State board of education—Burns (R) 1545; Smith (D) 1341.
State board of agriculture—McPherson (R) 1535; Caball (D) 1316; Akers (R) 1530; Wiegand (D) 1334.
State highway commissioner—Ziegler (R) 1547; Dingman (D) 1335.

In the non-partisan race for justice of the supreme court Dehnke polled 612 votes, Starr 1483, Cahalan 592, North 1211.

Both amendments were defeated as follows: No. 1—Yes 849, No 1669; No. 2—Yes 1030, No 1124.

The county board of canvassers does not tally the vote for township offices.

P-51 Flier Forced Down Enroute Here

Capt. Rode Wald, an overseas combat veteran from Baraboo, Wisconsin, flying a P-51 Mustang fighter plane from Elgin Field, Florida to Escanaba, was forced down on a plowed field near Green Bay last Saturday. The undercarriage and propeller of the plane were smashed in the forced landing but the pilot was uninjured. Capt. Wald was on a test flight when the mishap occurred.

INJURY SUIT IS HEARD BY JURY

County Woman Plaintiff In Action Against Car driver

The personal injury suit of Mrs. Hula Korpi of St. Jacques against Henry Frey is expected to go to a Delta county circuit court jury today following trial which started yesterday before Judge Frank A. Bell.

Mrs. Korpi was injured August 21, 1941, in an automobile accident east of Rapid River. It is alleged that the car in which she was an occupant and driven by her late husband, John Korpi, was struck by the Frey car.

The jury hearing the case is composed of Mary Kehoe, Caroline L. Olson, Marion Perron of Escanaba; August Froberg, Maurice Lierman and Katherine Swenson of Gladstone; Hans Lorensen of Bay de Noc township, Elmer Dahm of Brampton township, Alex Carlson of Cornell township, Harry J. Greene of Garden township, and Hugo Brannstrom of Masonville township.

Other civil cases scheduled for jury trial are:

First National Bank of Niagara, Wis., vs. Carl O. and Hilda Carlson, assumpsit; Warren T. Brown vs. William C. Johnson, trespass on the case; Frank Meyers vs. Michael Novak, trespass on the case.

In court Tuesday William Collins of Escanaba was admitted to citizenship.

Richard Allingham Wounded In Action Mar. 20 In France

Sgt. Richard A. Allingham was slightly wounded in action March 20 in France, his wife, the former Ruth Mattson, who resides at 1121 Stephenson avenue, has been informed by the war department.

Sgt. Allingham, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Allingham, 612 S. 9th street, has been in service since March, 1941 and has been overseas for about a year. He is in the field artillery and trained at Fort Sill, Oklahoma and Fort Bragg, N. C., before going overseas.

He has a son, Richard, born last December, that he has not yet seen. A brother, Lt. Harry T. Allingham, a paratrooper, was killed in action in Belgium December 24.

Van Meer

Van Meer—The school children at Van Meer were given an Easter party at which cakes, ice cream and eggs were featured. An egg hunt was part of the fun. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Berry were host and hostess for the children.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Berry and son Jerry were Easter vacation visitors at their home at Marion, lower Michigan.

There was a good crowd out to Easter services at the church here on Sunday.

Our nice weather has become cold and some snow fell on Monday evening.

Van Meer school children are gathering waste fats and have several pounds to turn in. They have turned in 27 pounds recently.

Methodist church will meet for rehearsal this evening at 7:30. All members of the chorus are expected to be present.

Escanaba Sailor In Action Aboard USS Pennsylvania

Although Radio Tokyo has reported her sunk several times, the USS Pennsylvania is still very much afloat, as members of her crew, including Machinist's Mate Third Class Robert J. Vannberg, USN, son of Mr. Oscar Vannberg, 506 South 17th St., Escanaba, Mich., will testify.

The first public announcement of her record in the Pacific, made recently at Advance Pacific Fleet Headquarters, tells of her participation in 13 amphibious operations and of her part in the defeat of the large Japanese Naval force in the Battle for Leyte Gulf on October 24 and 25, 1944. The "Pennsy", as her crew knows her, has possibly shot more main battery ammunition at enemy positions than any other ship—more than 11,000,000 pounds.

This old, broad-beamed Pearl Harbor "ghost", whose keel was laid on October 27, 1913, has covered 100,000 miles of Pacific water, from the Bering Sea to Southern Australia. For a period of four months she cruised in waters west of Tokyo.

The Pennsylvania's assignments against the Japanese began with the destruction of enemy installations on Attu. Since then she has been at Kiska, Makin Island, the Marshalls, Eniwetok, the Marianas and the Philippines.

Testimony of the accuracy of her guns came when a shore party during the invasion of Guam sent an urgent call for help in a designated area. When the echoes of the first four-gun salvo from her secondary batteries had died away, the shore party signaled: "Nice shot, Pennsylvania. Mission completed."

On the morning of January 6, 1945, this resurrected battleship began the shelling of Lingayen on Luzon. The Pennsylvania was the first to fire. For three days the Japanese threw all possible air power at the invading forces, but at the final hour, troops and supplies streamed ashore unmolested.

The Pennsylvania's fire power has earned her a special place in Navy annals. Someone once wrote of her, "The old girl shoots so fast and so much that at times she looks as though she's afire."

And that may be the secret of the enemy claims that she has been hit and sunk several times.

Presidents of the United States have used armed forces abroad at least 76 times without congressional sanction.

V-E Not the End

WHEN the fighting ends in Europe, there will be great jubilation in America and soaring hopes that the boys who have fought through the hell of fire in Africa, Italy, France, Belgium and Germany will be coming home to stay. For thousands of Americans, however, V-E day will be merely a pause in the grim battle of war, because it now is becoming apparent that only a percentage—and perhaps a small percentage at that—of the servicemen will be demobilized.

The principal effect of V-E Day to the United States will be recognition of the fact that half of the job of crushing our enemies has been accomplished—but the other half—Japan—still remains. Thousands of the troops now serving in Europe will be transferred immediately to the Pacific area, without coming back home for furloughs with their families.

It is true that plans are being made to send as many soldiers as possible now fighting in Europe back to the States for furloughs, but they will be home only briefly, perhaps 30 days, and then they will move to the other side of the world for more combat.

The American people must understand this situation now, before V-E day, so that false hopes of general demobilization will not be established. Lack of understanding would serve only to create disillusionment and a terrific impact on morale.

The Navy plans virtually no demobilization of its forces as a result of V-E day. Most of the American sailors are already fighting in the Pacific and victory in Europe will not relieve their job, but probably intensify it since the Navy will be charged with the tremendous task of moving troops from Europe and from America to the battle zones in the Pacific.

The first great transfer of soldiers from the European theater of war to the Pacific will be service forces and construction crews to build vast new bases. These men will be transferred directly, without furloughs back to the Pacific area. Combat crews will follow.

Perhaps the most encouraging news of the Army's plans for V-E is its program to move all wounded men out of Europe and back home within 90 days after Germany's surrender. After the first World War some of the American wounded soldiers remained in Europe almost a year.

Mandi Arrested

FRITZ MANDL, former Austrian munitions and one-time husband of Hedy Lamarr, has been reported arrested in Buenos Aires and his industrial plants seized by the Argentine government.

Mandi has had a checkered career. In Europe, he posed as a friend of the democracies, but he was known to have been intimate with Hitler's Nazi crowd. He apparently is just another of the international arms makers, who profit on this bloody business of war.

In 1938, Mandl left Europe under mysterious circumstances and turned up in Argentina. In no time, he produced the funds for the acquisition and expansion of industrial plants for the manufacture of metals and plastics. Eventually, he was producing military goods for the Argentine dictatorship, some of whose high officials were associated with Mandl in the enterprises.

Both the American and British governments have been suspicious of Mandl's connections with Fascist-minded individuals and groups in Europe and Argentina. It has been rumored that he was using gold supplied by Hitler for his Argentine industrial operations.

Reports of his arrest by the Farrell regime with which he has been intimate must be taken with the proverbial grain of salt. The dictatorship is still in control of the Argentine government, and this may be just another gesture to curry the favor of the democracies, now that they are well on their way to victory over the Axis. It was only recently that Argentine declared war on Germany and Japan, the last of the Latin American countries to break with the Axis.

Urges Pulpwood Growing

TIMBER conservation problems in Minnesota are almost identical to those faced in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan, so the efforts that are being made to rebuild the forest industries in the Gopher state are of considerable interest here.

Minnesota can never again resume the place it once had in production of lumber, the St. Paul Dispatch pointed out recently in an editorial. Over several decades the state produced every year more than a billion feet of fine lumber, and at the peak of the industry, attained an annual production of two billion feet.

The primitive forest has gone forever, but Minnesota can reestablish the sort of forest that can be the basis for a major group of new industries. For these industries, the Dispatch believes, only pulpwood is required and this can be grown, and is already being grown in some quantity, on a commercial basis.

Pulp and paper manufacturers in the Lake states have already started the acquisition of large tracts of cutover land for the growing of trees that will assure them of a long-time supply of pulpwood. The movement should be given every encouragement by providing adequate fire protection, workable tax laws and adequate timber cutting regulation. Permanent forests will give the region permanent industries.

Must Tighten Belts

THE War Food Administration has sounded another warning that American civilians will have to resign themselves to eating less meat, butter, cheese, sugar and some other scarce food items.

Lend-lease requirements are larger and the military needs also have been increased, with the army ordering 20 per cent more than last year. It means that we shall have to pull in our belts at home.

There is an adequate supply of fresh fruit and vegetables in prospect, however. Vegetarianism, which was quite a fad a score years ago, will likely see a revival this year.

OIL'S CONTRIBUTIONS

(Chicago Journal of Commerce)

The American oil industry supplies 60 per cent of all the goods used by our armed forces, not excluding food and munitions. Most of that percentage is accounted for by high octane gasoline, used in tremendous quantity by our bombers over Europe and Japan. But two of the industry's less publicized contributions to the war have been on the spectacular side.

For instance, consider the M-69 bomb, which had laid waste great areas of Tokyo, Nagoya and Osaka. This is an incendiary, and what an incendiary! An M-69 contains jellied gasoline and when it crashes on enemy territory the flaming substance spatters as far as 100 feet, sticks there and burns. The bomb, landing in a street, can fire a building. Hundreds, or thousands, of them nullify the fire lanes the Japs carefully built in their cities to prevent flames from spreading.

The other development contributed much to the complete success of the lower Rhine crossing. The smoke screen that hung over the British and American fronts for many days, while the navy brought up its water craft and while other maneuvers were carried out, was in reality an oil fog. Generators that look like old-fashioned fire engines shot into the air billions of droplets of oil microscopic in size. Their tiny size gave the droplets stability, enabling them to float in the air. Instead of vanishing quickly, as a steam screen would have, this fog remained in the air for a long time.

The oil industry is contributing to victory in many ways, some of them still undisclosed and some of them less sensational. The two recently-announced developments indicate that it is going to take a prominent place in the chemical industry in peacetime.

SURPRISE WORD OF THE WEEK

ROQUEFORT is one of the most famous cheeses of France. It is noted for its strong flavor and characteristic bluish mottled appearance. And therein lies the surprise. But first, the pronunciation. The French say: rawk-FAWR. The American pronunciation accents the first syllable which rhymes with "poke, woke," thus: ROKE-fer.

According to an old legend, a shepherd, guarding his flock near the town of Roquefort, in the department of Aveyron, placed his food supply of bread and cheese

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Talking with some of the new members of the House and Senate, you get an impression of slight bewilderment. They feel like spectators at a big parade, helpless to do more than stand on the sidewalk and watch the exhibits go by.

Childs

This reaction is particularly interesting because the last election brought some exceptional people to Congress on both sides of the political aisle—men and women who had made careers for themselves outside the ordinary channels of politics.

It may be the time we're living in. Any period so crowded from day to day with extraordinary events calling for extraordinary action is bound to put a heavy burden on Congress. But the fact remains that many members have a sense of hopelessness about the flow or legislation that spills across their desks.

—TRY TO SPECIALIZE—

Sensible members soon decide that the only course is to specialize. They fasten on a subject—ordinarily one of particular interest back home—and concentrate on that. While this has advantages, it also has serious disadvantages, since it tends to accentuate the business of special interests and special blocs.

Largely, it seems to me, the dilemma of Congress grows out of a timid reluctance to accept the techniques of the 20th century world. The dead hand of the past rests heavily on the machinery of the legislative branch of our government. Sometimes the echo of Webster and Hayne sounds louder than the muffled voice of the present.

That is why the work of a congressional committee headed by Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., of Wisconsin is particularly important right now. That committee, through a series of hearings, is working out some recommendations to bring Congress up to date.

Whatever you may happen to think about Senator La Follette's views on this question or that question, he is recognized as one of the foremost experts in the country on legislative procedure—in other words, on how to get things done. Long before he himself came to the Senate—and that was nearly 20 years ago—"Young Bob" was secretary to his father, fiery "Old Bob," so he began to learn very early what was wrong with the creaky machinery of our national legislature.

—HAS INFERIORITY COMPLEX—

The other day, in commenting on the testimony of a witness before his committee, he made a diagnosis of Congress that interested me, it only because it confirmed a theory I've had for some time. Senator La Follette said that Congress had an inferiority complex.

While that phrase is greatly overworked today, it does seem to me to apply in this case. I was reminded of what happened on the floor of the Senate shortly after the shock of Pearl Harbor.

A vast naval appropriation bill calling for billions of dollars was put through with scarcely half an hour's debate. Then the Senate took up a proposal to grant its members the privilege of free long-distance telephone calls on legitimate business, up to a limited amount. If I recall rightly, it was $1,000 a year for each member, which would have made the total less than $100,000 if they had all taken full advantage of the privilege.

On that one they debated for several hours. Could they trust each other? Wouldn't they abuse the privilege? Finally it was turned down. Not until last year did the Senate approve a resolution under which the first three minutes of ten long-distance calls a month per member are paid for out of Senate funds.

That is symptomatic of Congress's inferiority complex. They should not be afraid to make use of the instruments that have tied this world of ours together into a very tight knot.

They should not be afraid to use experts far more freely than they do. Committees of Congress that approve billions of expenditure limp along with two or three trained specialists, while the executive departments that spend the money hire experts by the drove. Congress should have its own sources of authoritative information.

The LaFollette committee is a hopeful sign. They are charting a cure for the congressional inferiority complex.

in a cave for safekeeping. His sheep wandered far afield, and it was not until months later that he returned to the cave, only to find that the cheese apparently had spoiled, for it was covered with a peculiar bluish mold. Hunger forced him to sample the stuff; he found it good, and thus Roquefort cheese was discovered.

I cannot attest the truth of the legend, but it is true that Roquefort cheese, made from ewe's milk, is ripened near he town in caves in which it is allowed to mold.

Now for the surprise. The blue mold that gives Roquefort cheese its distinctive flavor and appearance is . . . what do you think? It is the fungus penicillin—the same mold from which the wonder drug penicillin is extracted.

The word penicillin means "like a painter's small brush," for, under the microscope, the mold is seen to consist of small tufts resembling little brushes.

When the new drug was invented, it was called penicillin, from the penicillin of penicillin plus the chemistry suffix -in.

Penicillin, the mold, is pronounced: PEN-i-SILL-i-um. The drug penicillin is correctly pronounced: PEN-i-SILL-in. Do not place any accent on the second syllable.

Good Morning!

THE OLD PLACES—William Andrews, one-time proprietor of the Andrews Furniture store at 1013 Ludington street, now retired and living in Orlando, Fla., writes to suggest that a review of Escanaba's veteran business establishments would prove interesting.

Second avenue probably leads, with Kahlow (cigar maker) on South Eleventh street and Fifth avenue second, Delta Hardware, starting as W. W. Oliver, has always been in the same block. Hansen & Jensen have had the same place near the dock for many years.

The oldest grocery location is, I am sure, at the corner of South Ninth and South Second avenue where St. Jacques started 50 years ago or more. (It is now Larson & Farley.)

"The oldest saloon stand is probably on South Tenth street and South Tenth avenue—55 years or so. (Granada Gardens is now located there.)

"The oldest photograph gallery is, of course, Wixon's old place on First Avenue south, started about 60 years ago. (Wixon was followed by Robb, now in Florida, and then by Selkirk, present operator of a studio there.)

"When you are not busy some time why not take your notebook in hand and see what you can find out? It should be interesting."

CALL FOR HELP—Mr. Andrews suggestion is an excellent one—except that the Bugler's busy hours are so much in the majority there are few to spare. However, there may be some of the city's older residents who have this information at their fingertips and could help out. Their letters would be welcomed.

The building is now occupied by the Varsity Shop.

TRIFLING HELP—Sunday afternoon proved one of the most hazardous periods from the standpoint of forest fires of any time so far this spring. The wind blew about 30 miles an hour and the air was dry.

Forest fire fighters were expecting snow or rain for that day and had hoped that it would aid them in bringing fires under control. In all of Delta and Menominee counties, however, the snow fell on only one fire, reports D. H. Raess, district conservation supervisor.

That was at a fire at Woodlawn—and the snow was so scanty it was of little assistance.

SPRING FLOWERS—Arbutus is being picked here and there through the county, although most of the buds are still closed. Some May flowers (hepatica) was found at Flat Rock, an aide reports.

At the Roy Goodman, Marcus McNabb, Mrs. Robert L. Parsons residences, and probably in other flower gardens in the city the crocus are blooming. These are among the first flowers to unfold with the arrival of warmer weather.

Colder weather and light snow of the last few days is expected to hold the budding trees and shrubs in check until the coming of more seasonable weather. Gardeners advise covering flowering bulbs until the cold weather passes.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1935

Marshall, Mich.—Mayor W. G. Thick, Republican incumbent, remained the choice of the electorate tonight after a recount of ballots cast last Monday which had been held at the demand of C. H. Clute, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate. Mayor Thick is a former resident of Escanaba. He was department manager of the Fair store until several years ago.

Construction of a new clubhouse to replace the structure destroyed by fire last fall was decided upon by stockholders of the Highland Golf Club at their annual meeting in the Escanaba city hall Wednesday evening. Among other improvements, the club will also start planting grass on some of the greens this year.

Gladstone—William Earl Peterson, of this city, student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, gained a place on the dean's list of undergraduate students of high scholastic standing for the first semester of the 1934-35, according to a bulletin received from the institute by Gladstone high school. Peterson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Peterson, Minnesota avenue.

Mrs. Nellie Smith entertained 30 couples at her home, 1601 Sheridan road, Friday evening. Dancing was the main diversion with music by Lundin's orchestra. A dainty luncheon was served before the guests departed for their homes.

Miss Hazel Canfield returned to Marquette to resume her studies at the Northern State Normal school after a week's visit at the parental home in this city.

Manistique—First and second place in the singles tournament at Brault's bowling alleys went to Vic Remmel who had totals of 631 and 595 in his two high entries. John Munger came third.

Mrs. Archie Doucette and daughter Jeanette of Chicago are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Chartrand, South Tenth street.

to purchase a bottle of liquor had to present his food ration book to have it punched by the dealer. This system of liquor rationing replaces that formerly established by the state.

How the new system will affect the purchase of liquor cannot yet be determined. It is likely that some persons will hesitate before taking their food ration books to a liquor dealer when they want a bottle of grog. Some husbands will have a hard time persuading their wives to release the food ration books from her custody long enough to dash downtown for a bottle.

And then there are the undercover drinkers who wish to remain anonymous. Some people bought liquor for gifts, cold remedies and such—but never for themselves. Now they must declare their intentions by presenting their food ration book. And even if your friend makes the purchase for you, he must take your ration book along.

PSYCHOLOGY—Following the Easter vacation school kids found it hard to return to the regimentation of the class room. It is this same feeling that causes so much absenteeism among factory employees on Mondays.

The kids, however, think they are alone in this aversion to return when duty calls. And they are likely to vent their feelings in antagonistic attitudes toward the teacher.

One teacher in the lower grade of an Escanaba public school applied psychology to bring herself and her pupils closer together the day after Easter vacation.

"Good morning," she said to them without enthusiasm. "I know just how you feel—I wasn't ready to come back either."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. R. S. Allen now on active service)

Washington—Tip-off as to how Joe Stalin feels about smaller nations was given more than a year ago in a private talk with Cuban Ambassador Conchoso. It gave a significant indication of why Stalin demands three votes in the United Nations assembly.

Stalin amazed the Ambassador with his knowledge of Cuban labor and economic problems, but talked as if Cuba were part of the United States. Conchoso explained that the Platt amendment had been abrogated and Cuba now had complete political freedom. But this made little impression on Stalin. He viewed Cuba as wedded to the U. S. A.

Then he turned to Argentina. And with considerable vehemence, he remarked that it was about time the United States took Argentina in hand and forced it to join the Allies. Stalin's eyes flashed when he talked of Argentina and he seemed to believe that the United States had complete control of the American continent.

Ambassador Conchoso explained that Argentina was a long way off from the U. S. A. and that the United States took pains to respect the independence of Latin American states. But Stalin seemed unconvinced.

—STALIN'S BORDER STATES—

Since then, evidence has increased that the Soviet considers (1) Latin America as a bloc which will always vote with the United States; (2) smaller nations close to a big power as legitimate satellites of that power.

For instance, when Winston Churchill visited Moscow last summer, Stalin was very frank in saying that Russia must have a series of states on her western border—Poland, Roumania, Finland— which were friendly to her. He made it plain that the Soviet would not tolerate for a minute a government in these bordering states which did not cooperate with the U. S. S. R.

Since then, Stalin has changed the government of Roumania when it suited him, has forced the Allies to accept the Polish Lublin government, and has caused a government turnover in Finland.

So the coldly realistic Stalin figures that the tactics he employs with his neighbors are employed also by the U. S. A. with its neighbors; and if not, then it's this country's fault. In fact, his only complaint to the Cuban Ambassador was that the United States didn't crack down on Argentina.

—BYRNES STEPS OUT—

For a long time, soft-spoken little Jimmy Byrnes, the President's all-round handyman, has been wanting to retire from office. He has been working all hours of the day and night, in poor health and in need of a physical check-up.

For a long time, also, the gentleman from South Carolina has been keeping a book on his chief in the White House. It's not exactly a diary, but a record of things Jimmy was promised but never got. Probably he'll never publish it. In fact, only his close friends know it exists. But those that do say it puts the Chief in a bad position when it comes to keeping promises.

First, there was the vice-presidency. Byrnes got the impression that FDR would welcome him as his running-mate. But, when he got to Chicago, he was instructed to "clear it with Sydney Hillman." That was where the "clear it with Sydney" phase, so effectively used by the Republicans, got started. Byrnes told it to Arthur Krook and, on that score, Jimmy got his revenge.

Later, Byrnes got what he thought was a definite promise of Secretary of State when Cordell Hull resigned. He even made plans regarding the appointment of his staff. But, at the last minute, Harry Hopkins persuaded the President that Ed Stettinius would be easier to manage, while Byrnes would insist on running things his own way. So Byrnes was out again.

Jimmy fully expected to retire as war mobilizer just before Christmas. Then came the Belgian bulge counter-attack and it looked as if the war would be prolonged. So he stayed on. In January, Byrnes was restless again, didn't confer with the President except by telephone, though his office is in one wing of the White House. This coolness seemed healed when FDR took Byrnes to Yalta. Politically, it was one of the smartest things the President ever did. For Byrnes came back to give senators a close-up, favorable picture of Stalin and what went on there.

While he was away, however, Byrnes' old South Carolina friend, Bernie Baruch, leveled a few barbs at him, implied he was ducking out of the Henry Wallace confirmation fight, also intimated he lacked the nerve to demand a tough manpower bill and crack down on other civilian war laxity.

Actually, those who have watched Byrnes work know that behind his soft-spoken South Carolina charm he has been a lot tougher than most people relished, that he has slaved day and night, that he has trodden on people's toes to right and left if it would help win the war.

But, now that the war is going well, Jimmy feels his job is done. And, not too happy with his chief, Byrnes is getting out.

Would you rather call it quits at midnight in this country or be kept awake all night as they are in Berlin?

Maybe the rest of the country can get some satisfaction out of knowing that there'll be more and bigger hang-overs in New York.

While we're having a nice spring over here, Germany is due for a bad fall.

PFC. BESSONEN DIES IN ACTION

Son Of Elmer Bessonens Killed March 22 In Germany

Pfc. Lawrence Bessonens, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer A. Bessonens, 603 South Fourteenth street, was killed in action March 22, according to a message from the war department addressed to his wife, who is residing with her family at Kearsarge near Houghton.

Although the message did not say where he was killed, relatives believe it was in Germany, since he was serving with the Seventh Army's heavy infantry.

Born Dec. 1, 1919, at Allouez, Michigan, Pfc. Bessonens had been in service since June, 1944, and had been overseas since last November. He had entered service with his wife and three-year-old son, Duane.

Other survivors are his parents, who have resided in Escanaba for two and one-half years, and one brother, Elmer Jr., and two sisters, Mrs. Katherine Aho and Miss Eleanor Bessonens, all of Escanaba.

Bark River Scout Program Tonight

With the final completion of all plans for the charter ceremonies of the three units in Bark River, an enjoyable evening awaits those attending. Scouts, Scouters, Cubs and Cubbers of the community will take part in the event tonight. A Scouting movie will be shown.

The event will open with a supper beginning at 6:30 p. m., after which the program of the evening will get underway. The program will be under the direction of Bark River Scout leaders and district and council representatives.

Franklin Cub Pack To Hold Ceremony

The reorganized Franklin Cub Pack under the sponsorship of the Franklin P.T.A., will hold its official installation ceremony, next Tuesday evening, April 10th, beginning at 7:00 p. m. sharp, in the Franklin school, according to plans made by the Cubmaster Franklin Reese.

This pack, which at one time was one of the most active in Escanaba, according to information, has been reorganized throughout, with the exception of the sponsoring group. New leaders and committee members have offered their services.

An impressive ceremony has been planned in which the fifteen Cubs, which have duly registered, will receive their certificates and badges, along with the presentation of the charter to the sponsoring institution, as well as certificates being presented to the pack committee. The installation will be under the direction of Franklin Reese, Cubmaster and F. H. Baldwin, neighborhood commissioner.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

High Winds Cause Some Damage Here

High winds ranging up to 55 miles per hour for a few seconds duration caused some damage in Escanaba yesterday afternoon, followed by colder weather as the wind began shifting to the west and north. Northwest storm warning flags were displayed.

Henry E. Hathaway, local meteorologist for the Weather Bureau reported the southwest wind attained a sustained velocity of 44 miles per hour in the afternoon, and that in the evening it rose as high as 55 miles an hour in puffs.

At the Delta Hardware a large glass in a display window, previously cracked, was broken in by the wind.

At a shoe repair shop in the 100 block, North Fourteenth street, the wind broke off an advertising sign which broke windows in falling. The building is owned by B. J. Gallagher.

On Third avenue north near Fourteenth street a large branch of a tree was broken off and fell in the street.

Hathaway reported that while most of the soft snow which fell Tuesday had melted, the remaining moisture was freezing and would help to protect plants and shrubs against the colder temperatures which are forecast.

In areas along the shore of Lake Superior the snow last night remained on the ground. In the Copper Country it was about six inches deep.

During normal years, more shotgun shells are fired at rabbits than at any other species of North American game.

Schedule For Clothing Collection Announced

The "block" system will be used for the collection of used clothing to be sent to needy war victims overseas, it was announced yesterday by Capt. Milton Anderson, chairman of the collection committee.

Mrs. John Luecke, member of the committee, will contact the various zone and block leaders to provide them with letters of instruction as to how the collection drive will be conducted. The block method was used with much success in the Red Cross War Fund campaign.

Chairman Anderson said the first collection will be made by one city truck on Monday, April 16, in the area south of Ludington street and east of Tenth street. Two trucks will be used on April 18 to pick up contributed clothing south of Ludington street and west of Tenth street. Another pickup will be made in the area north of Ludington street on April 20. Boy Scouts will accompany the trucks to assist in the gathering of the clothing items.

All clothing will be taken to the Salvation Army building on Ludington street for sorting and packing preparatory to shipment.

City Council Will Meet Here Tonight

The Escanaba city council will meet at 8 o'clock tonight in council chambers at city hall with Mayor Sam Wickman presiding. The following business is scheduled to come before the council:

- 1—Decision on recommendations of the Civil Service Commission.
- 2—Discussion of insurance on airport hangars and sewage treatment plant.
- 3—Consideration of selling 40 acres of land west of the city.
- 4—Discussion of tree ordinance in regard to tree planting.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

America and her "Underground"

We were sitting around after chores the other night talking about the progress of the war. Chad Davis was saying how, in spite of Germany's defeat, there was still the German underground to cope with.

"I don't worry about them," says Sober Hoskins. "So long as we get our own underground in working order."

"What do you mean—our underground?" says Chad. And Sober points out to the fields. "There it is," he says, "under that soil lies the most important weapon that we've got. American crops—from American fields—strengthening our position overseas in a way no other underground can shake."

From where I sit, Chad's absolutely right. Whether it's for the glass of beer that cheers a tired soldier's spirits, or the bread that feeds our armies and our allies, every bit of grain that American farmers harvest is a part of America's great strength.

Here's a SAMPLE Puzzle—Just to Give You the Idea—SAMPLE PUZZLE ONLY

EXPLANATION
Note this Sample Puzzle. Notice the objects illustrated and the plus and minus signs, which mean that you add or subtract.

You see the letters O-A followed by a plus sign, after which comes an object that is obviously an ARM. Therefore, to O-A you add the letters A-R-M, which gives you O-A-A-R-M. Then you subtract R as directed, leaving O-A-A-M. Then you add a plus sign followed by a P-E-N, so you add P-E-N to O-A-A-M-P-E-N, to which you now add RING, plus the letter I, as directed. Thus you have O-A-A-M-P-E-N-R-I-N-G-I, from which you then subtract PIANO. So you cross out the letters P-I-A-N-O, leaving A-M-E-R-I-N-G-I, to which you add the next object, CAN, or the letters C-A-N, giving you A-M-E-R-I-N-G-I-C-A-N, from which you finally subtract the letters G-I-N-N, giving you AMERICA as the solution.

FACTS MAGAZINE Invites You To Enter This Puzzle Contest

Accept this cordial invitation from FACTS MAGAZINE to enter its puzzle contest. Here is your opportunity to win $10,000, $2,000, $1,000 or any of 500 cash prizes totaling $17,500.

The puzzles in this contest are divided into 20 Series of 4 puzzles each. You will find the 1st Series (Puzzles 1-4) printed in this announcement. Solve these puzzles and send your solutions as promptly as possible, on or before Midnight, Saturday, April 7th. When we receive your solutions to Series No. 1, we will mail you FREE the remaining Series of puzzles. The Rules are printed in full below. Please read them carefully and be sure you understand them.

You will find the second Series of puzzles in this contest (Puzzles 5-8) in this newspaper next week. However, in case you miss seeing them, they will of course be included in the remaining puzzles we will mail to you upon receipt of your entry.

First of All—Study the Sample Puzzle

Study the sample puzzle printed in the upper right portion of this page before trying to solve the first 4 official puzzles. Once you understand how the sample puzzle is solved, you are ready for the first 4 official puzzles.

MAIL YOUR SOLUTIONS BY MIDNIGHT, SATURDAY, APRIL 7th

Your solutions to Series No. 1 should be filled in on the Entry Form at the bottom of this page and mailed as promptly as possible before Midnight, Saturday, April 7th. Please be careful in copying your solutions on to the Entry Form. FACTS MAGAZINE wants to do everything within its power to make the contest the most delightful and the most efficiently conducted in which you have ever taken part. Please co-operate with us. Please write or print your name and address clearly and legibly.

ENCLOSE 15c WITH EACH SERIES

To qualify your solutions for a prize, as provided under the Rules, enclose 15 cents in coin with each Series of four puzzle solutions. Coins should be wrapped carefully in a small piece of paper. In return for the remittance for the twenty Series, you will receive the book series by the Literary Classics Book Club as per the Rules. This contest with FACTS MAGAZINE as sponsor, is being presented as a means of popularizing the Literary Classics Book Club.

WE'LL MAIL YOU REST OF PUZZLES UPON RECEIPT OF YOUR ENTRY

FACTS MAGAZINE will mail you FREE all of the remaining puzzles in the contest as soon as we receive your Entry Form with your solutions to Puzzles 1-4. In enclosing 15 cents as called for under the Rules, please wrap some in a small piece of paper before enclosing in the envelope. More than one member of a family can compete, and a tracing of the Entry Form with your solutions to Puzzles 1-4, may be equally as acceptable as the printed ENTRY FORM. The only persons barred from entering the contest are employees and relatives of FACTS MAGAZINE and its various affiliated publishing companies.

OFFICIAL RULES OF THE CONTEST

1. This contest is open to everybody except employees and relatives of employees of FACTS Magazine or any person or firm directly or indirectly employed in conducting the contest.
2. A Group of 80 puzzles will be offered for solution. The solutions to the puzzles will be names of persons or places, books, movies, plays or songs, in fact any name which the Editors may consider famous.
3. A First Prize of $10,000.00 in cash and 499 other cash prizes, totaling $17,500.00, will be paid to the 500 entrants who by their submissions achieve the highest scores in accordance with all of these official rules.
4. The 80 puzzles are divided into 20 Series of 4 puzzles each. Puzzles 1-4 comprise Series Number One; Puzzles 5-8 comprise Series Number Two, etc., etc., the Group consisting of 30 Series. Each week contestants are asked to mail their solutions to the puzzles, one or more Series of solutions at a time, on or before Saturday night of each week.
5. Once you enter the contest, the additional puzzles will be mailed to you as soon as possible. In submitting the solutions for a current Series, the contestant is privileged to submit the solutions for preceding Series. Solutions for the Twenty Series must be postmarked not later than June 16, 1945. Copies of any publication which may contain any of the puzzles may be examined free at any Public Library, and tracings or copies of the Entry Form or Answer Forms will be equally acceptable as forms clipped from the magazine or from a newspaper or circular. The Puzzles will be mailed free upon request to the sponsor.
6. Neatness does not count, but SPELLING of the correct solutions is important. Any error in spelling will count against you unless that error is so trivial or irrelevant that in the minds of the judges there is no shadow of doubt but that you not only correctly solved the puzzle but also submitted the correct name represented by same. FACTS Magazine will not be responsible for submissions or communications unduly delayed, or not received, or lost in the mails either from the contestant to FACTS Magazine or from FACTS Magazine to the contestant.
7. This is a contest of skill! Upon entering the contest, the contestant agrees that prior to being awarded a prize, he or she will sign and execute under oath an affidavit attesting that he or she has not bought or exchanged answers in this contest, nor used answers bought, exchanged or supplied. The contestant further agrees that the decision of the Contest Editor, in all matters affecting the conduct of the contest, the acceptance of submissions, and the time limits established for the acceptance of submissions under unusual circumstances arising through no fault of the contestant, the making of awards, and the measures invoked to insure individual effort in fairness to all contestants, shall be final and conclusive.
8. To qualify for a prize, the contestant is required to accompany each Series of four solutions with 15 cents in coin. Each contestant who submits a complete Group of solutions for this contest qualified in accordance with the Rules will receive the book selected for the month of July by the Literary Classics Book Club. Any contestant who becomes eligible to submit, and who does submit, a Group of qualified tie-breaking solutions, will receive the following month's Book Club selection. Entrants who for any reason drop out of the contest before sending in the complete Group of 80 solutions will receive a set of Quotations by Famous Statesmen.
9. Neatness will not count. Do not decorate your answers. Just submit your solutions in accordance with the Rules. In case of ties, if two or more persons tie in submitting the correct solution, then the first two or more prizes will be reserved for those contestants and will be awarded in the order of accuracy of the submissions of those contestants to a first, and if necessary, a second tie-breaking group of puzzles, divided into Series exactly like the first Group. In case a second tie-breaking group of puzzles is necessary, contestants eligible to solve same will be required to accompany their solutions with a letter of not more than 200 words on the subject: "The Puzzle I Found Most Interesting and Educational in This Contest." All tie-breaking Series must be qualified in accordance with the provisions of Rule No. 8. Most interesting and educational in this contest, puzzles have been checked and the letters be considered, and in that event they will be judged on the basis of originality in description and general interest. In case of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded. Upon entering the contest, the entrant is asked to realize that the sponsor anticipates that a large number of persons may enter the contest and that a large number may solve one, two or all three of the Groups of puzzles, and that the sponsors will not make known the number of persons competing in any phase of the contest, irrespective of how large or how small that number may be. FACTS Magazine reserves the right to offer contestants the opportunity to win increased prizes, or to offer consolation prizes or additional prizes at any time prior to the conclusion of the contest.
10. All solutions should be forwarded by mail and addressed to Puzzle Contest, FACTS Magazine, P. O. Box 324, Church Street Post Office Annex, New York 8, N. Y.

Margaret Bink
Bride Of Capt.
Raymond Knauf

Spring flowers in pastel tones were arranged with the altar candles, and tall standards, containing flowers marked the entrance to the sanctuary of St. Joseph's church for the wedding Wednesday morning of Margaret Ellen Bink, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob A. Bink, of 1019 First avenue south, and Captain Raymond Anthony Knauf, of the Army Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Knauf, of Bark River.

The vows were spoken at a nine o'clock nuptial high mass before Rev. Fr. Alphonse Wilberding, O. F. M.

The bride, who walked down the white-carpeted aisle with her father, who gave her in marriage, wore a gown of white satin and mouslin de soie. The bodice of all satin was marked by a row of tiny buttons down the back, long, close-fitting sleeves, which ended in points over the wrists, and a ruffle of lace which outlined the yoke, and the skirt of mouseline de soie over satin formed a long train. Her veil of fingertip length was lace edged, gathered to a tiara of seed pearls. She wore a three-strand pearl necklace, the gift of the bridegroom, and her only jewelry, and she carried a bouquet of white snapdragons.

Miss Lillian Bink, sister of the bride, who was maid of honor, and Miss Marion Bink, also a sister of the bride, and Miss Zita Buchhoe, who were bridesmaids, wore like gowns of mouseline de soie over satin, the maid of honor's of pink, and the bridesmaids' of blue. The gowns were made with fitted bodices, and full skirts, with back ruffling from the waistline to the hem. Mary, Queen of Scots hats completed each costume. All three attendants carried colonial bouquets.

Breakfast and Reception
Lawrence Knauf, Capt. Knauf's brother, was best man, and ushers were John Knauf, also a brother of the bridegroom, and John Lamotte, a brother-in-law.

For the wedding ceremony and reception, Mrs. Bink, mother of the bride, wore a brown silk print, and Mrs. Knauf wore navy blue. Both mothers had corsages of roses.

St. Joseph's choir sang the music of the wedding mass. Soloists were Mildred Hinn, Therese Cor-

Fred Johannesen, of Bay View, in honor of her birthday anniversary. Games were played, Mrs. Celia Peterson winning first prize, Mrs. Mayme McMartin, second, and Mrs. Adele Peterson, low. A pot-luck lunch was served. Guests included thirty-six friends, most of whom originally lived in Stonington, or live in that community now. The guest of honor received a purse and many other useful and beautiful gifts.

coran, Mrs. John Greis, Mrs. Elbridge Baker and Earl Owen. At the offertory, the choir sang Mitterer's "Ave Maria," with Miss Mary Bink, an aunt of the bride, soloist, and at the close of the service, Miss Helen Bink, a sister of the bride, sang "We Give Thee Our Love." The traditional processional and recessional were played by Miss Eva Cossette, organist-director of the choir.

A wedding breakfast for forty guests was served at the Sherman hotel. Three-tiered wedding cake centered the table appointments with an attractive arrangement of white snapdragons and carnations. A reception from 2 to 5 o'clock followed the breakfast.

Captain Knauf and his bride left on a honeymoon trip to Kansas, the new Mrs. Knauf, for traveling, wearing a suit of American beauty shade with a soldier blue box coat and a corsage of pink carnations.

Both young people are graduates of St. Joseph high school, class of 1941. The bride is employed in the office of St. Francis hospital. Captain Knauf, who recently returned from Italy after completing 117 missions, has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, and has received the presidential citation as well as the air medal with six oak leaf clusters.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tesser of Detroit; Mrs. John Lamotte, of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Theut and family, of Rudyard; Mrs. Walter Jansen of Marinette, and Jacob Groos, of Groos.

C&NW Women
Elect Officers

Mrs. Leslie F. Miller was elected president of the Chicago & North Western Railway Women's club at that organization's meeting on Monday afternoon at Grenier's hall. Other officers are: Mrs. Walter Menard, first vice president; Mrs. Clifford Mercier, third vice president of ways and means; Mrs. G. R. Henderson, recording secretary; and Mrs. Isadore Morin, membership chairman.

Cards were played following the business meeting, and lunch was served. Good attendance marked the meeting.

Bridge League
Session Marked
By Varied Hands

BY L. W. OLSON

A very gratifying crowd was in attendance at the meeting of the Delta Bridge League last Saturday night. As usual there was just one large section with everyone playing the same hands in direct competition with everyone present. The club likes this system of play ever so much better than having two or three sections of play. Twenty-eight boards were played and play was finished in plenty of time so the scoring could be done before midnight.

We are now making arrangements for our spring team of four tournament. The date has not been definitely decided on but it is time all of you started lining up your teams. One week from this Saturday night we will have a team of four practice session. So get your team of four lined up and be ready for a night of team-of-four duplicate play that night. We do not expect very many out-of-town entries due to travel conditions so will have to rely on the local players to help us keep this championship tournament going during these war years.

Pairs who played in last Saturday's session were treated to some of the most interesting hands that have ever come up in all our years of play. Part scores, sacrifice bids, games and slams were all included in these fine hands. The pairs scoring better than 50 per cent were as follows:

1. Mrs. J. L. Temby and Mrs. L. W. Olson, 64.56.
2. Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dehlin, 61.47.
3. Mrs. W. O. LaFond and Mrs. T. C. Shanahan, 58.45.
4. Mr. and Mrs. J. Sturgeon, 57.35.
5. Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Howe, 54.37.
6. C. W. Murdock and D. R. Remington, 53.78.
7. Mrs. C. W. Murdock and Mrs. D. R. Remington, 52.23.
8. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jensen, 51.45.
9. H. L. Holderman and C. Buckbee, 50.89.

Hockey, the Irish national game of hurling, and possibly golf and cricket are derived from polo.

DIES IN ACTIONLocal Soldier Killed In Germany, Parents
Are Told

Lt. John S. Solar, Jr., 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Solar, of 518 Alger avenue has been killed in action, it has been announced.

The fateful telegram stating that the young man had died from wounds received in action, was received Wednesday morning. There was nothing to indicate the manner in which he had died other than it had occurred in Germany.

Lt. Solar was born in Manistique on July 9, 1921 and had resided in this city all his life. As a child he attended St. Francis de Sales Parochial school and later Manistique high school from which he graduated in 1939. As a student in high school, he was popular and gifted. He was prominent in numerous school activities, particularly in debating and public speaking. He was president of his class during the senior year.

Following his graduation from high school he entered Michigan State College where he took up work preparatory to the study of law, but before he finished his course, he was drawn into the armed service. Shortly after entering service he was enrolled in the officers' training school at Camp Blanding, Georgia, from which he graduated in September. He was sent overseas in December.

Surviving him, besides his parents, are two sisters Annie and Mary, and a brother Martin.

A memorial mass will be conducted Monday morning at 8 o'clock at St. Francis de Sales Catholic church with Father B. J. P. Schevers officiating.

Grade School Band
Badly Needed

Joseph Giovannini, school band leader, is asking the aid of the community in helping secure band instruments for beginners to use when vacation band training begins this summer. There is an acute shortage of musical instruments at this time, he says. Houses providing instruments are out of the market in most instances and when available, prices are almost prohibitive.

For that reason Mr. Giovannini is asking people of Manistique and vicinity to look over their attics and other places where such things may be stored and see if there is a trombone, alto, clarinet or cornet that might be put into service with a little fixing.

It should be understood that anyone having these instruments is not to donate them. Those who use them will have to purchase them. But the price will have to be nominal. Or they may be rented if the owners so desire.

These classes are for grade school children from fifth grade and up. The instruction is a part of the local school program and no charge will be made for the instruction. Parents wishing to have their children enroll should contact Mr. Giovannini at the school, or leave word with Supt. A. F. Hall.

GOP TREND IN COUNTY HEAVYVote In Both City And Rural Areas
Definite

Republican candidates had a two to one advantage over the Democrats in Schoolcraft county in Monday's election, a complete tabulation of the vote reveals.

The ratio between the winners and the losers was so evenly divided throughout the list that it was apparent that voters had been guided almost entirely by party lines in making their choices.

In the city of Manistique the leaning toward Republican candidates was still more heavy, although Democratic candidates had somewhat the best of it in the first ward.

The vote in the city and the county follows:

FORESTRY MEN
ADDRESS LIONSStress Part Played By Woods Products In War Effort

"What are the people of Manistique doing to prevent forest fires? How well are they organized to help if serious forest fires break out in this area?"

These two questions were asked pointedly at the regular meeting of the Lions club Tuesday evening by N. O. Nixon, the new forest ranger, who had charge of the program for the evening and introduced a program dealing with the important part forestry products play in our war effort.

Mr. Nixon stated that he did not ask those questions to be critical, but he wished to bring home the fact that the forest fire threat—in spite of the current spell of April snow—is a serious one.

Manistique's record in the matter of freedom from this menace has been good, he said, but so was the record of the areas in lower Michigan recently visited by bad forest fires.

He asked that people of Manistique give serious consideration to the problem.

The remainder of the program was given over to movies showing the multitude of uses to which forestry products are put to help win the war. This was followed by a talk by Woodrow Wati, who had served as a member of a submarine crew operating in enemy waters in the South Pacific. His story had to do with his experiences at that time.

These movies and the talk will be featured at a program at the high school auditorium Friday evening. The public is cordially invited and there will be no admission charge. The program is sponsored by the Timber Production of War Products committee.

OF COAST GUARDFilms To Be Shown At Lions Club Meet.
Thursday, April 19

A special showing of films depicting the work of the Coast Guard in wartime is being presented to the Lions and Rotary club organization on Thursday, April 19, by Ensign Marjorie C. Lash, recruiting officer for the Coast Guard, from the CG Recruiting Station, Milwaukee.

The films will be shown at a regular meeting of the Lions club on the 19th. Dinner will be served at 7 o'clock at the Yacht club.

The program has been arranged by Lt. Walter Hornstein of the Coast Guard Temporary Reserve and members of his staff. Sgt. Willard W. Wikom of the Lions club is chairman of the evening.

The films include "Task Force," a technicolor picture of Coast Guard wartime duties; "Battle Stations," a film showing the work of the Spars; and "Normandy Invasion," an actual record of D-day in France. Ensign Lash will provide the commentary.

Young men and women interested in enlisting in the Coast Guard will have the opportunity to make further inquiries at this time. The service is still seeking women, 20-36, with bookkeeping, secretarial or home economics experience.

Many young women, formerly prohibited from enlisting because of certain physical requirements, may now qualify under relaxed rules, Ensign Lash stated.

All recruits will be processed at the new Coast Guard Recruiting Station, Post Office Building, Green Bay, Wis., and then sent for boot training to the Manhattan Beach Training Station, New York.

The program in Gladstone will be the culmination of an extensive Spar recruiting drive through the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Touring Canadians
In Motor Mishap

Two cars of touring Canadians featured in a motor mishap Tuesday evening in which the cars were slightly damaged and one of the passengers was injured.

Lloyd George Torry, of Rose-town, Sask., stopped his car suddenly to attend to some minor trouble and in doing so, failed to signal to Clifford Walker of Sudbury, Ont., who was with the party following close behind. Walker's car crashed into Torry's, and the collision caused Torry to bump violently against the windshield.

They were all able to proceed on their way after application of a little first aid to the cars and the Saskatchewan man's forehead.

The accident happened near Blaney Park.

Severson was arrested by Conservation Officers Allan Tweedy of Rapid River and Ray Roberts of Nahma who allege he was tending traps set for beaver on the Rapid River east of Lathrop on Friday, March 30.

The beaver trapping season for which a special license is needed opened on April 1.

Missive Tells Of Local Boy's Death

Mrs. Pauline Brassick, 20220 Oakland avenue, Detroit, widow of the late Fred Brassick, Gladstone, who was killed in Belgium, has received a letter from John J. White, chaplain, office of the chaplain, Headquarters 337th Infantry, of which Brassick was a member, telling of the death.

The letter follows:

"Dear Mrs. Brassick:

"Sad as the circumstances are under which I write to you, I know it will add a little comfort and satisfaction in your hour of trial to receive additional information as to your husband's death.

"Your husband, Private Frederick A. Brassick, Co. G, this unit was wounded in action on one of the battlefields of Belgium, 28 December 1944. He died of wounds in an American Field Hospital in Belgium on 29 December 1944. He is buried in an American cemetery in Northeastern France and received a dignified Christian burial, a Catholic chaplain reciting the prayers for the dead at the time of this interment. I celebrated mass and heard confessions for his company prior to the engagement in which he was killed, mass being celebrated several times weekly for the men.

"Fred was held in high esteem by all who knew him. He was a good soldier and was a valuable asset to this organization.

"My expression of sympathy, Mrs. Brassick, conveys also the sentiments of Private Brassick's commanding officer as well as our esteem for the patriotic sacrifice both of you have made.

"May God bless and reward you for this generosity."

'Plugs' Gladstone
On Western Station

Even though she has retired from the game, Miss Mary Jean Malott, champion woman brier, Portland, Ore., still retains an interest as is evidenced in a letter to J. A. LaFramboise in which she tells of giving the sport some publicity over radio recently.

A portion of her letter reads: "Was fortunate this week and gave Gladstone and birling a good 'plug.' KOIN—Oregon's strongest station, had me on the air for a 'Northwest Neighbors' program. I must have had 8 or 10 minutes of the 30 minute program. Also one of the leading papers here ran a pretty good writeup about a month ago. At least it will keep the public aware of the fact that log rolling is an established sport and the next tournament should be good."

City Briefs

Mrs. George Strong and daughter, Sharon, left yesterday for Niles, Mich., where they will visit for several weeks at the home of Mrs. Strong's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hill.

Mrs. Michael Kocera is leaving today for Miami, Fla., where she will join her husband, Michael Kocera, M.M. 2/C, who is stationed at the Coast Guard and Navy Garage there. She will be accompanied as far as Milwaukee by her mother, Mrs. Margaret Johnson, who will spend several weeks visiting with friends and relatives there.

BRUSH BURNERS
NEED PERMITSEnsign Farmer Fined For Setting Fire Without Permission

Pleading guilty to setting a brush fire without permit upon arraignment before Justice of Peace Oliver C. Estenson Tuesday cost Lester Pomeroy of Ensign five dollars and costs of prosecution.

Pomeroy was arrested upon the complaint of Forest Ranger C. M. Armstrong of Rapid River. He had started a fire without permit which necessitated sending out a Forest Service fire crew at needless expense.

Permission must be obtained before burning brush. Permits may be obtained by phone if necessary, that is by phoning the U. S. Forest Service at Rapid River, or they may be had by applying at the Ranger Station at Rapid River; to Harold Gustafson, Ensign township supervisor; from the Stonington fire tower; from Conservation Officers Allan Tweedy at Rapid River or Ray Roberts at Nahma.

Sorting, collecting and packing will be done by members of the city fire department. Cardboard cartons and wooden crates will be donated for use by several local stores.

The depots will be open for receiving of bundles during the weeks of April 9-21. On Saturdays during the two weeks Girl Scout troops of the city will make a house-to-house canvass of the city. Large bundles too big for ordinary hauling by the city will be picked up by city trucks on the mornings of April 14 and 21. The phone number of the city hall is 2641.

LeRoy Hamilton Is
New Scout Leader

LeRoy Hamilton was named as a new Scoutmaster of Gladstone Troop 467 at a meeting of the troop committee and Scout leaders held recently. Hamilton, who had previous Scouting experience when he was a Boy Scout, is employed by the E. & L. S. railroad. He is the father of two children.

Troop 467 was organized in November, 1944, sponsored by the First Lutheran Brotherhood under the direction of Melvin Phieffter. Leadership has been under the direction of Rev. Clifford Peterson, Ralph Marquette and Robert Erickson. The troop committee, with George Pada as chairman, has been active and has taken a great interest in the welfare of the unit.

At this meeting, appreciation was extended to the present junior leaders for the fine work that was done in the past, and a special request was made by the committee that they remain on the job until such time as their leadership must be terminated. Both junior leaders will leave soon for other occupations.

A special meeting was held at the troop meeting place Tuesday evening, to welcome the new leader, LeRoy Hamilton, and to acquaint him with the personnel of Scouting in Gladstone. The special gathering was under the direction of Oscar Ohman, local commissioner, and Wallace Cameron, district commissioner.

The plaque, issued by command of Major General McLain and signed by Brig. Gen. H. E. McGuire, chief of staff, general staff corps, was given "for superior performance of duty in the performance of extended and difficult tasks from June 19, 1944 to August 24, 1944. * * *

The 608th Quartermaster Graves Registration Company's accuracy, promptness and completeness of all administrative work involved in graves registration operations was outstanding. The untiring devotion to duty and military demeanor shown by the personnel of the 608th Quartermaster Graves Registration company exemplify the highest traditions of the Military Service."

Juneau has been in service for nearly two years and has been overseas for the past 15 months. It is learned that he and Chester Schram, now home on leave, worked in adjacent areas since the invasion of Normandy but never met.

WILSON THINKS HE CAN STICK

Righthand Pitcher Sees Chance To Remain With Tigers

BY FRANK KENESSON

Evansville, Ind., April 4 (P)—Walter Wilson, 29-year-old, Glenn, Ga., cotton farmer shooting his first major league baseball chance with the Detroit Tigers, believes he has a great chance to make good in the big show and, he says, "I'm not going to kick it away."

The lanky, six-foot-four inch righthand pitcher, says he is convinced "there never was a better time to break into the American League than today."

A relatively late start in organized baseball—he first became a professional at the age of 23—doesn't appear to be a drawback. He has had five years of minor league pitching back of his Tiger trial—and his work shows it. A cool and deliberate pitcher, he seems blessed with control and should be hard to rattle. Nothing ever seems to bother him.

Starred With Buffalo

Detroit, sadly short on relief pitching in 1944, might have captured the American League flag with Wilson, but General Manager Jack Zeller didn't want to pull him out of Buffalo, where the Bisons needed him to stay in the International League pennant fight.

At Buffalo last season Wilson won 18 games and lost 14, carving out an earned run average of 3.66. A few years back, with Goldsboro, N. C., in the Coastal Plain League he won more than 20 games, starting and finishing a string of 19 in a row, of which he won 15. The 20th in that impressive stretch was almost a no-hitter but he couldn't get the last man out in the ninth inning.

Wilson's weather-beaten, outdoor complexion belies his age. He appears nearer 40 than 30, but he's already served a 12-month army stretch in California and received a medical discharge. "I'm convinced I'm good enough to be a big league pitcher," he said. "Now all I've gotta do is convince the other teams' hitters."

Yanks Trim Red Sox 8 To 3 In Exhibition

Atlantic City, N. J., April 4 (P)—Rookie Shortstop Joe Buzas of the New York Yankees stretched his exhibition game hitting streak to seven straight games today as the Yanks defeated the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 3.

Buzas doubled to drive in New York's first two runs in the second inning, then scored on Snuffy Stirrweiss' single. Doubles by Russ Derby and Nick Etten gave the Yanks another run in the fifth and Oscar Grimes clouted a homer with two aboard in the eighth, when New York bumped Francis Barrett for four runs.

"Sold the first day," said Jones. Now you try a For Sale Ad.

No Czar Yet, But Baseball Saving Money At Least

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, April 4 (P)—We haven't picked a baseball commissioner in quite a spell, which makes us practically assembly-line stuff as far as originality is concerned. Nobody else has, either, including the gentlemen whose selection is official.

It is more than four months now since K. M. Landis died, and even the Northwest Mounted gets its man in less time than that, and the man usually is running. The prospects for the commissioner's job aren't running, unless it is toward it. They're just sitting still waiting to be tapped for bingo.

Saved $15,000 If the club owners aren't careful they're liable to find out they can get along without a commissioner, like a fellow who didn't discover that tapping himself on the head with a hammer wasn't really necessary until he lost the hammer.

The leagues already have saved close to $15,000 in salary, figuring the new commissioner will draw around $50,000 a year. That is, they've saved it unless they are splitting the money among the three supernumeraries, Will Harridge, Ford Frick and Leslie O'Connor. That we doubt, preferring to believe it is just a labor of love on the part of those esteemed gentlemen.

Anyway, the major leagues stumbled through their darkest days with no single rudder to guide them. The situation early this year, with the man-power outlook very dim indeed and the race tracks already closed, was no bargain, to say the least. It would seem that those days were the days when baseball would need an official spokesman, or an official silence man such as Landis, more than at any other time.

Yet the game muddled through, and the new commissioner, if and when, should be in velvet, comparatively speaking. The outlook is getting better by the day. The game practically cured itself, with little therapy on the part of the officials.

Farley or Frick

The chief job of the next commissioner, now that the game is on the upgrade, will be the supervision of post-war plans. It is admitted that that job will be tremendous, with service athletes returning in droves and clubs saturated with man-power. But it will not be a question of keeping the game alive.

Our personal guess still is that the new commissioner will be either James A. Farley or Frick, with emphasis on Farley. That either would listen to reason if approached is indicated by the fact that most of the other potential candidates mentioned have hung out the "nobody home sign." In other words, they've said they're not interested, while neither Farley nor Frick has committed himself one way or the other.

At any rate, we have an idea action may be expected shortly. The committee named to beat the bushes and scare out prospects has completed its work. Now all that is left is to pick the man, offer him the job, and hope he accepts.

Swimming Meet Entries Run High

New York, April 4 (P)—The largest wartime entry for the National A.A.U. men's senior indoor swimming championships has been received for the two-day meet here Friday and Saturday.

Lawrence Johnson, National chairman, reported today 131 individuals and 20 relay teams have entered ten championship events. Yale has the largest entry, 17 individuals and six relay teams, but the talent-loaded Bainbridge Naval Training Center team is favored to take the team title.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Revision of the collegiate football rules to permit forward passing from any point behind the line of scrimmage gives the collegians the same style of open football that has characterized the pro football games for a number of years. There has been a clamor for revision of this rule in the collegiate game for some time, but the rah rah boys have been slow to act. Up to now collegiate teams were required to pass from a minimum of five yards behind the line of scrimmage. The new rule provides better deception for passes and also improves running plays because it retains the threat of a pass until the ball carrier has actually crossed the line of scrimmage.

The National Interscholastic football rules, which most of the high schools in the United States follow, has provided for passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage for many years, taking their cue from the professionals. Another revolutionary change in the college rules is one that permits the elevation of the ball an inch from the ground for the kickoff. This change should result in longer kickoffs, with a natural result of a great increase in touchbacks on the kickoff play. In such cases the receiving team will take possession of the ball on its own 20 yard line. There will also be a corresponding decrease in out of bounds kickoffs, since an elevated toe permits considerably greater control of the kick.

Elimination of the elbow block is almost certain to cause a lot of grief, not only for the officials, but for the teams and coaches as well. Strict enforcement of this regulation requiring blockers to press their hands and arms against their bodies will mean a sharp increase in penalties and, of course, nullification of many plays, including many scoring plays. Blockers in football have been using their elbows and arms against defensive players for years and it just isn't going to be natural for them to keep their arms pressed firmly against their bodies. I doubt if this rule will be simply because of a liberal interpretation of it. It seems quite unfair, anyway, inasmuch as the defensive player has full use of not only his arms and elbows, but his hands as well.

The technical revision of the substitution rule actually will make no difference to the game since it serves only to deprive a team captain of his right to reject a substitute and charges the coach with full responsibility for substitution. In actual practice captains rarely overrule the judgment of the coaches anyway. The principal effect of this rule will be to speed up the transfer of players, since the substitutes now will be permitted to report to any official. Even further liberalization of this rule may be expected soon, following the pro's experimentation with free substitution and no reporting to the officials.

BOYS IN SERVICE Receives Awards

Trenary—Word has been received here by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Seppa, that their son, Sgt. Arvo J. Seppa, has been awarded the combat infantry man's badge and also the service ribbon for participation in engagements on the Italian front.

Sgt. Seppa has been in service since June 1943, receiving his basic training at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas and advanced training at Camp Hale, Colorado. He was stationed at Camp Swift, Texas, before leaving for overseas duty.

Sgt. Seppa is with the Mountain Infantry Div. in Italy at the present time.

Wins Promotion

Lt. Charles J. Little (Jack), son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Little received a promotion to 1st Lieutenant before being sent overseas on February 15.

Lt. Little has been in the service since Sept. 19th, 1942. He received his basic training at Ft. Riley, Kansas and attended non-commissioned officers school and commissioned officers school while there. After completing a three months' course at the Cavalry Officers Candidate school, he received his commission as Second Lieutenant from the hands of Brig. Gen. Rufus S. Pamey, commandant of the school, on June 9, 1943.

He was sent to Ft. Meade, Maryland in August, 1943 where he remained until he was sent overseas.

Lt. Little is now located somewhere in Holland. He writes home to his parents, that he surely would like to be able to talk "Dutch" as he cannot understand the people there.

Hunting And Fishing

By Sid Gordon

DO FISH SLEEP?

I contend that fish sleep after they have fed in the morning. I believe that they feed again in the evening and go to sleep again. They have no eyelids and when the bright sun is shining they go down to the depths away from the sun's rays, and sleep in the dark waters.

How many times we fishermen have dragged fly, spoon or minnow past a fish's nose in the day time without results is beyond computation. I have always felt that you can drag bait or lure past a sleeping fish and you might as well throw it out of the window and expect results.

Tonight I bumped into Norma Granberg, of Oshkosh. Bigosh, that old fisherman surprised me! He's an old timer, almost as old as I am, and I listened to him expound on his theories about fish and fishing. It was hard for either of us to get a word in edgewise, for he is as disputatious as I am, set in his ideas, when it comes to fishing.

During our talk, I'd gotten him a little angry over one of my remarks. He shook his fingers right in front of my little nose of mine and said, "You may know a lot about fish but you've never once told the fishermen how to catch a sleeping fish."

Unfortunately, I have a pair of wriggling ears. I merely got them going until they lifted my hat over my forehead. He's pretty keen eyed and he said, "If your hair is standing on end over the one, I'll bet you 50 bucks right now, and we'll let Rusty hold the stakes, that I can tell you how to catch sleeping fish."

I only had three dollars and 50 cents. I cut him down to a five-dollar bet. Borrowing the other dollar and a half from Rusty I put up the five dollars, and I am not a betting man. I figured that if I lost, I'd lose only three and a half. Rusty, who egged me on could underwrite the rest of it.

Finally, after the third sandwich, knowing that the money was put up, he told us how he would prove it. He's going to take us up a little feeder stream which empties into Lake Winnebago, Rusty with the 10 dollars in his hand and me with a rod and a minnow attached to a hook, in my hand.

Then Norm will row us up to a patch of weeds, along in late July when the sun is hot and the weeds are making their starch and sugar and throwing off oxygen into the water. He insists that the fish will be lying there, sleeping in the water.

I must drop my bait in front of the fish's nose, Norm will prod the fish with the ear, the awakened fish will grab the bait and he will reach for the money. While I didn't believe a word of it, I became a little frightened when Norm said, "And the name of the fish will be Hiodon tergisus, commonly called the money." I wonder if I shall be thrown for a terrible loss of three dollars and 50 cents?

Leather Pushers In Golden Gloves Tie

Chicago, Apr. 4 (P)—New York's amateur glove swingers battled to an 8-8 tie with Chicago in the 18th annual inter-city Golden Gloves competition in Chicago Stadium tonight.

It was the fourth tie in the series, with Chicago winning ten and the New Yorkers four.

The bouts, fought in Chicago Stadium, attracted 20,752 spectators.

Webster Cub Pack Leaders Hold Meet

A meeting of the Cub leaders of the new Webster pack was held in the school Tuesday evening with the following leaders present: Pack committeemen — Melvin Trams, Fred Breitenbach, Barnett Mills, Jack C. Coyne; Den Mothers — Mesdames Signe Moore, Melvin Trams, Clyde Dimock, and Edw. Olsen; Den Chiefs — Bill Bernard, Dick Gilbert, and Conrad Pratt; and Cubmaster Jens T. Jensen.

The purpose of the meeting was to elect the officers of the pack committee and to further consolidate the dens now in operation. Three dens out of the five organized are in full operation, with two being operated under the direction of the cubmaster and den chiefs. Den mothers are needed for these two dens. Present den mothers are offering their assistance to obtain this much needed personnel, to fully complete the staff.

Registrations were taken, with Melvin Trams acting as chairman of the pack, with Mesdames Moore, Olsen, and Trams as registered den mothers. Forty-five Cubs have now registered. The enrollment of new Cubs will be terminated for the time being in order that the pack may become better stabilized.

It was decided at this meeting that the pack will meet regularly on the first Tuesday of the month with den meetings scheduled for each Tuesday of the month, with exception of the pack meeting, at which time all Cubs and leaders will participate.

Pack committeemen decided to schedule themselves in order that one or two members may be at each pack meeting to assist the cubmaster and chiefs in the work. It was felt that with the large enrollment additional assistance was much needed.

Outdoor activities for the coming months were outlined by the cubmaster, Jens T. Jensen, which included sports, outdoor adventures, and various special activities. An instructional period of the den mothers is scheduled for Wednesday, April 13, at which time further information regarding their duties will be had. Pack committee periods will be held in the near future also. Progress in the organization on a firm basis is being made slowly but surely.

The pack is under the sponsorship of the Webster P. T. A.

3 Youths Pass Navy Examination

Three Delta county 17-year-old youths passed physical examinations at Milwaukee last week and were enlisted in the U. S. Navy, B. J. Dryer, Sp 1/c, recruiter in charge of the Marquette navy recruiting station, has announced.

They are Charles H. Lundmark, 1602 Michigan avenue, Gladstone; Lloyd T. Lindstrom, 314 South Eighteenth street, Escanaba; and Richard M. Harris, 1302 First avenue south, Escanaba. All were recruited through the Marquette station.

Accompanied by Chief Petty Officer H. A. Bahr, Dryer will be in Escanaba at the postoffice Saturday, April 7, to interview applicants for enlistment in the Navy. Applicants are required to bring their birth certificate and should also be accompanied by their father or guardian to sign consent papers.

Enlistments of 17-year-olds have been exceedingly heavy during the month of March, surpassing February by 70%, and exceeding the Marquette quota for the upper peninsula by 150%.

Canadian ocean shipping dates to the days of early European fishermen who frequented the shores of Newfoundland and the Maritime Provinces.

The Roving Reporter

By ERNIE PYLE

Off the Okinawa Beachhead (By Navy Radio)—This is the last column before the invasion. It is written aboard a troop transport the evening before we storm onto Okinawa.

We are nervous. Anybody with any sense is nervous on the night before D-Day. You feel weak and you try to think of things, but your mind stubbornly drifts back to the awful image of tomorrow. I drag on your soul and you have nightmares.

But those fears do not mean any lack of confidence. We will take Okinawa. Nobody has any doubt about that. But we know we will have to pay for it. Some on this ship will not be alive 24 hours from now.

We are in company. Many, many big ships are lined up in columns with our warships escort on the outside. We are an impressive sight—yet we are only one of many similar convoys.

We left from many different places. We have been on our way many days. We are the biggest, strongest force ever to sail in the Pacific. We are going into what we expect to be the biggest battle so far in the Pacific.

Our ship is an APA, or assault transport. The ship itself is a war veteran. She wears five stars on her service ribbon—Africa, Sicily, Italy, Normandy and Southern France. She wears the Purple Heart, Bronze Star, and Legion of Merit Silver Star. She has fared well on the other side. We hope her luck holds out in the Pacific.

We are carrying Marines. Some of them are going into combat for the first time. Others are veterans from as far back as Guadal Canal. They are a rough, unshaven, competent bunch of Americans. I am landing with them. I feel I am in good hands.

I've shared a cabin with Marine Maj. Reed Taylor of Kensington, Md. He is a Guadal vet and he jokingly belittles newcomers who weren't through "Green Hell." The Major and I are sort of two of a stripe and we get along fine. We have the nicest cabin either of us ever had at sea. And we've taken advantage of it by sleeping away almost the whole trip. We've slept day and night. So have many others.

There is a daily argument on ship whether or not you can store up sleep and energy for the ordeal ahead. The doctor says it's nonsense—that you can't store up sleep.

Between naps I've read two books. They are Bob Hope's "I Never Left Home" (How I wish I would hear Bob Casey tell all those stories in person, lying on his cot in France and roaring and shaking with his own laughter. Bob's laughter would be good for us now, a Marine officer said, "I haven't laughed for three days.") Our trip has been fairly smooth and not many of the troops were seasick. Down in the holds the Marines sleep on racks four tiers high. It isn't a nice way to travel. But I've never heard anybody complain. They come up on the deck on nice days to sun and to rest and to wash clothes, or lie and read or play cards.

We don't have movies. The ship is darkened at sunset and after that there are only dim lights. The food is good. We get news every morning in a mimeographed paper and once or twice a day the ship's officers broadcast the latest news over the loudspeaker. They've kept us informed daily of the progress of the Okinawa bombardment that preceded our landing. Every little bit of good news cheers us. The ship, of course, is full of rumors, good and bad, but nobody believes any of them.

Meetings are held daily among the officers to iron out last minute details of the landing. Day by day, the Marine troops are fully briefed on what they are to do.

Everything we read about Okinawa stresses that the place is lousy with snakes. It's amazing the number of people who are afraid of snakes. Okinawa "snake-talk" crops into every conversation.

On the last day we changed our money into newly manufactured "invasion yen," drew two days K rations, took a last bath, and packed our kits before supper. We had a huge turkey dinner and, say, we have steak and eggs for breakfast. "Fattening us up for the kill," the boys laughingly say.

At 3 o'clock on the last afternoon there was a celebration of the Lord's supper. It was the afternoon before Easter Sunday. A lot of us could not help but feel the tragic irony of it, knowing about tomorrow's battle.

Fayette

Easter Service

An Easter cantata of well known Easter hymns was presented at the Congregational church Sunday evening by a combined choir of the Fayette and Rapid River parishes under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Gerald Smith. The accompanist was Mrs. Livermore of Rapid River.

Election

There was no opposition for local officers at the election held Monday. Members of the board were Peter Geniesse, chairman; Martin Thill and Edmund Laux inspectors; Mrs. Axel Rasmussen and Mrs. John Chaffee, clerks; Mrs. Harvey Humbert, officer of the day.

Briefs

Cecil Laux of Detroit spent the holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Laux. William O. Smith, local storekeeper, has purchased the Delta Cafe and the building which houses the R. Caswell general store of Rapid River and will take over the properties May 1.

Leo Dalgord motored to Manistique Sunday to get his wife and also his mother Mrs. Sarah Dalgord, who spent the day here.
